

Subject: Local Contractors Can Get on State Bid List
Date: March 29, 2010

For Immediate Release

At a recent conference, Plumas Sierra County Fair Manager, John Steffanic, and Maintenance Supervisor, Oran Morrison, became aware of an opportunity that could help local contractors. The construction arm of the California Department of Fairs and Expositions, the California Construction Authority (CCA), keeps a list of contractors wishing to be notified of projects administered by the CCA. Construction projects at California's 78 fairgrounds total over $52 million. They range from fence construction to re-roofing projects. When any of these projects have been funded, bid packages are sent out to those contractors enrolled with the CCA.

Steffanic reports that absolutely any project that can be done locally on the Plumas Sierra County Fairgrounds, will be. That doesn't mean other fairgrounds in Northern California have the same policy. Plumas County contractors may have skills that cannot be found around some of those other fairs. For a list of current projects and to sign up with the CCA, visit www.calconstruction.com.